ICFNH 2022

1st International Congress on Food, Nutrition & Public Health

Towards a sustainable future

Instituto Nacional de Saúde Doutor Ricardo Jorge
17th November 2022 | Lisbon | Portugal

In recent years, scientific evidence continues to show us that there is a strong relationship between diet, lifestyle, and the early development of serious public health problems, which lead to a decrease in quality of life and premature mortality of the population.

The ICFNH 2022 will address the following main topics:

- Sustainable food production and consumption
- Sustainable diets and human nutrition
- Impact of sustainable food and nutrition in Public Health

Ensuring that healthy eating translates into sustainable food with benefits for public health requires everyone's collaboration.

We look forward to welcoming you in November 2022 in the lovely city of Lisbon!
